

ABSTRACT

The present invention discloses positive control material for nucleic acid amplification based detection of microorganisms in biological samples. The control
5 material comprises purified microorganism that is rendered non-infectious but is amenable to nucleic acid amplification. Also disclosed is a process for making and using the control material.

50
51
52
53
54
55
56
57
58
59
60